SUMMERTIME BLUES

From blues bands to famous men in blue, this month of Celebrations will give you the cure for any summertime blues that come your way. For culinary delights, the focus will be on the beloved blueberry and all the jams, pies and muffins that the berry calls its own. We'll also delve into the mysteries of the state of Maine - where blueberries grow wild and the moose roam free. And don't forget to celebrate the 4th - with the red, white and blueberry!

Strawberry Fields Forever

Springtime gets fun this month. Flowers are blooming, strawberry plants have started their road to juicy fruition, and mothers get to take center stage. Join Celebrations with us as we learn about famous mothers and eat and drink strawberries in all their wondrous variations. We'll also explore California - where there's a lot more than gold in them thar hills!

Bonanza Extravaganza

Git along little doggies! In this month's Celebrations we'll two-step to some country music and honor Pa Cartwright and all the wonderful dads in our lives. In the weeks ahead, we'll explore Texas and the cowboys and Indians that call the lone star state home. As for our taste buds... this is cattle country and beef is it!

ANCHORS AWAY

We'll set sail for Louisiana on this voyage where our senses will kick into high gear with the smells, musical sounds and tastes of Cajun country. This month we'll focus on fish and its many edible variations. You'll be hooked like a hungry catfish in no time. Be part of Celebrations, as we travel the musical highways and byways of everything from jazz to Mardi Gras honky-tonk.

It's that time of year for the seafood diet. We'll see food and we'll eat it! Celebrations will take us to New England this month, where history, clam chowder and crab cakes abound. Of course there's more to the holidays than food - there's also champaign and hot cider! But December will also bring us together for many other things, including memories, melodies and great classic movies featuring Jimmy Stewart and Bing Crosby.
